

Moving Forward with Lion's Share Entertainment

By Jeremy Lazar

Lion's Share Entertainment, the infomercial company at Universal Studios Florida, has recently teamed up with the Forward Logistics Group, or FLG, a leading fulfillment house, in preparations to deliver its popular new product, the Wonder Claw. On Thursday, Steve Erick of Lion's Share/Sell-A-Vision, met with Jim Gain, Business and Project Developer of FLG, and Terry Chandler, South-East Regional Sales Manager of Virtual Logger, for a tour of their facilities.

Steve Erick, of Lion's Share Entertainment/Sell-A-Vision, poses with Terry Chandler, from Virtual Logger and Jim Gain of FLG.

FLG, one of the top providers in the 2nd Annual Chain Management Resource Guide, is an international freight forwarder and customs broker. They will be shipping and receiving Lion's Share/Sell-A-Vision's new products, including the much talked-about home and garden tool, the Wonder Claw™, which is currently being manufactured in China.

"We look for great partners," says Rick Austin, president of Lion's Share Entertainment/Sell-A-Vision, "I can't say enough positive things about Jon Jordon and FLG."

FLG not only handles shipping and receiving, but will also be warehousing the product, and clearing it through customs, through their on-site U.S. Customs Agents. As orders come rolling in, FLG, through their relationship with Fed-Ex, will be there to ensure that the units will be shipped out expediently to the happily awaiting customers.